

10-4 Day honors police, past and present

The annual 10-4 Day Parade was held on Oct. 4, when a stable of old-school police cruisers and replicas of famed cars used by police officers in television, such as KITT from “Knight Rider”, hit the streets in Hollywood. The parade began at the Los Angeles Fire Museum on Cole Avenue and ended with a ceremony at the star of beloved TV cop Broderick Crawford, who portrayed California Highway Patrol Chief Dan Mathews on the 1950s TV show, “Highway Patrol”. RoboCop made an appearance, as did Miss Southern California, Brittany Wagner.
